

Number 27.

	Page
ART. XV.—Preliminary Report upon the Geology of Peary Land, Arctic Greenland; by L. KOCH,	189
ART. XVI.—Pleuromeia and Hausmannia in Eastern Siberia, with a Summary of Recent Contributions to the Paleobotany of the region; by A. KRYSHTOFOVICH,	200
ART. XVII.—The Crystal Structure of the Alums; by R. W. G. WYCKOFF,	209
ART. XVIII.—New Species of Uinta Carnivora from White River, Utah; by M. R. THORPE,	218
ART. XIX.—The Hyoid Apparatus of Merycoidodon; by M. R. THORPE,	225
ART. XX.—Notes on a Geological Traverse from Mohave, Cal., to the Mouth of San Juan River, Utah; by H. E. GREGORY and L. F. NOBLE,	229
ART. XXI.—Tertiary Plants from the Andes of Cajamarca, Peru; by E. W. BERRY,	239
ART. XXII.—The Temperature of a Black Spherical Meteorite; by A. T. JONES,	247

SCIENTIFIC INTELLIGENCE.

- Chemistry and Physics.*—Dissociation of Carbon in the Intensive Electric Arc, L. BELL and P. R. BASSETT: The Chemistry of the Inorganic Complex Compounds, R. SCHWARTZ, 255.—Carotinoids and Related Pigments, L. S. PALMER, 256.—Briquetting, A. L. STILLMAN: Directional Observations upon "Static," R. A. W. WATTS, 257.—Ultraviolet Radiation, M. LUCKIESH, 259.—Report for Year 1921 of The National Physical Laboratory (Teddington), 260.
- Geology.*—United States Geological Survey, G. O. SMITH, 260.—Western Australia Geological Survey, A. G. MAITLAND, 261.—New Zealand Geological Survey, P. G. MORGAN: The Iron Ore Resources of South Australia, R. L. JACK: Geological Survey South Africa, A. W. ROGERS, 262.—Geomorphology of New Zealand, Part I, Systematic, C. A. COTTON, 263.
- Miscellaneous Scientific Intelligence.*—Carnegie Corporation of New York. Report of the acting President, H. S. PRICHETT: Carnegie Institution of Washington, J. C. MERRIAM, 264.—Annals of the Astrophysical Observatory of the Smithsonian Institution, C. G. ABBOT, 265.—Allegheny Observatory, R. TRUMPLER: Washburn Observatory, G. C. COMSTOCK: Observatory of Paris, B. BAILLAUD, 266.
- Obituary.*—H. H. REUSCH: O. HERTWIG: F. KRASSER: J. B. HAYCROFT: C. S. BEMENT: S. S. KELLER; J. W. CALDWELL: J. A. ELLIOTT: G. LEFEVRE, 266.